CARES Overview

CARES Child Aviation Restraint System is designed specifically for aviation use for children age 1 and older who weigh between 20 and 44 pounds. These youngsters are old enough to be in their own seats, but are too small for the seat belt alone to protect them and provide the safety they require during engine travel. Their bodies cannot withstand the jolt that air currents in turbulence or crash, must keep emergency situations, and they fall forward or slide beneath the seat belt if they are not held securely in place.

Each year more and more young children fly. But until CARES came along, what was missing was a convenient, flexible that way to keep young flyers safe. Here's what makes CARES such an innovative travel solution:

- CARES is the first and only harness type Aviation Child Safety Seat to be certified by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) as an alternative to a car seat.
- CARES is an elegantly designed belt-and-buckle device that works in conjunction with the regular airplane seat belt and provides young travelers the same level of safety as a car seat.
- CARES weighs just one pound and fits into a 9" stuff sack! It is easily portable, simple to install, adjustable to every size airplane seat, and usable on any window or corridor seat in the airplane, except in the emergency exits.
- Head your car seat on the other end of the trip? Just stow it through the "hanger" — and carry CARES as-is in your pocket!

CARES is manufactured exclusively by Aviatrix, the foremost manufacturer of aviation seats and air experience in the world. Turn over your airplane seat instructions. Thereafter, it's as easy as 1-2-3. Aviatix (aka CARES) is made in the USA, is produced through working in your own seat belt and is engineered to the highest aviation safety standards.
